

GRABB & DURANDO, P.C.

PERSONAL INJURY ATTORNEYS

Liens & Medical Costs

Liens are asserted by/for medical providers, health insurance carriers, Medicare, Medicaid, Workers' Compensation, Veterans Administration/Hospitals, Federal, State and local governments, criminal restitution, the IRS, child support enforcement, and others. Grabb & Durando, P.C. (hereinafter referred to as Attorney) is obligated, has a duty under applicable law and is ethically required to protect such third-party claims.

If valid and enforceable liens are discovered, client understands that Attorney is required to honor said liens. Client authorizes Attorney to pay out of Client's share of the total sum collected the amount due to such lienholders. In the event Client dismisses Attorney as outlined in Paragraph 10 of the Representation Agreement, Client agrees that all liens signed by Attorney will be honored by any other attorney representing Client in this matter, or will be paid directly by Client in the event Client does not retain new representation.

All unpaid medical expenses of Client in connection with this claim will remain the responsibility of Client to pay. If Client has medical insurance that will pay all or part of Client's medical bills, it is the Client's responsibility to submit those bills to Client's health insurer or to arrange for the treatment provider to submit the bills to the health insurer. Under some circumstances, health insurers are entitled to reimbursement. (For example, payments made by Medicare, AHCCCS and ERISA insurance plans are almost always entitled to reimbursement). Where health insurers are entitled to reimbursement, Attorney is required by law to pay such reimbursement out of the settlement funds.
